LANOLIN

Oil Extracted From Wool

Approximately a century ago, they discovered that the rough hands of the shepherd boys shearing the wools in Australia becoming silky soft. The long research of the cosmetics corporations have discovered that the secret is the lanolin oil secreted from sheep, and because of its moisture and skin-protection function, it was used as the main ingredient for moisturizing cosmetics. Because of the similar substances to the human sebum, it effectively protects the skin from environmental factors such as the dry and cold weather, and air conditioning, and it is especially helpful in maintaining the dry and cracked skin soft and moist.
